Yyyyyyyyyy Numb. 6105

The Daily Courant.

Tuesday, May 16. 1721.

London, May 16.

Yesterday arrived a Mail from Holland.

Goffe, May 3.

YEsterday sailed from this Port 100 Gallies; half of them being to go to Karelbie, and the other half to Loofstad, and are to be joined by 25 great Gallies that have been newly built. The Troops which have been in Quarters hereabouts are to be drawn together in this Neighbourhood on the 11th Instant, to form a Camp of 20000 Men, under the Command of General Hamilton. Letters of the 7th Instant say, that since M. Campredon's Return from Petersbourg, two Expresses have been dispatched to Neustad, with Letters to the Czar and Plenipotentiaries of Sweden; that it is reported M. Campredon was to set out shortly to the Czar with fresh Proposals; and that Advices were had of the Swedish Plenipotentiaries being well received in Finland, and conducted by some Muscovite Gentlemen in their Coaches to Neustad.

Montpellier, May 8. Advices from Toulon say, that many of the Inhabitants through Want of Provisions having left that City, in order to retire to the adjacent Country, were resisted and fired upon by the Troops posted to guard the Barrier, who kill'd and wounded about an Hundred of those miserable Persons, and obliged the rest to go back to the City.

Hambourg, May 16. It is said the Troops of Hanover are on the March towards Mecklenbourg, in order to proceed to Swedish Pomerania, and cover that Country from Muscovite Descents: The Troops of Hesse Cassel are also to repair thither to the same Purpose.

Breda, May 21. About a Fortnight ago, two Gentlemen arrived in this City and took up their Lodging at the Sign of the Prince Cardinal; one of them passing for an Englishman, and the other for a Polander. The Englishman would never be seen, always hiding his Face whenever any of the Domesticks of the Inn entred his Chamber: But being dead five or six Days ago, his Fellow-Traveller had his Corpse embalmed and wrapt in Lead. M. de Villegas sent to enquire of the surviving Stranger concerning the Person and Quality of the Defunct? and was answered, that he was an English Gentleman named Charles Montague; adding, they had met each other at Nimeguen, and had since travelled together. The Surgeons who embalmed the Deceased, judge him to have been about 60 Years of Age. The Corpse is ordered to be seized, and Prince William of Hesse-Cassel and M. de Duyvenworden are gone to view it. The Domesticks attending these Persons are Germans, and give contradictory Answers to Questions that have been put to them. The Polish Gentleman has wrote Letters to England and to Italy, upon the Circumstances of this Affair. It is fancied by some Persons that the Deceased was a Duke.

Paris, May 21. On the 18th Instant, the Abbé de Varous was nominated to the Bishoprick of Perpignan, as also to the Abbacy de la Reale of the same Diocess: It is said, the Abbé de Beuron d'Harcour, Son of the Mareschal of that Name, is appointed Coadjutor to the Archbishoprick of Paris. The Duke of Luxembourg is in a Treaty of Purchase for the Hotel of Desmarets, which is to be disposed of for 400000 Livres: That House was built by M. Riviere, who made a Present of it to M. Desmarets, at the Time he was Comptroller-General of the Finances, upon Condition he procured to the former the Payment of a great Sum of Money owing from the King; Part of which was accordingly procured, but the Remainder is yet unpaid. Count Grandmont has obtained the Government of Ham in Picardy, who had the Survivanceship of that Post, and it became vacant since by the Death of Count de Serignan. The King has given Brevets of Collonel to four Exempts of his Gardes du Corps, viz. the Viscounts de Suzy, and du Champeron; the Marquesses de Calvieres, and de Vertrieux. All the Collonels, who upon the Reform had been ordered to their respective Regiments, have obtained Leave to return to this City. The Malteze Ambassadour at this Court has presented to the King the Birds of Prey, which the Grand Master of Malta usually sends to his Majesty every Year. On the 17th Instant, a fine Ball was performed at Court, at which the Turkish Ambassadour was present; and on the 24th Instant, the same will be performed again for the third and last Time. On the 18th Instant, the King, attended by the Mareschal de Villeroy, took the Air in the Elysian Fields, where his Majesty reviewed the Regiment of French Guards, which had been drawn out and muster'd. On the 17th Instant, the dead Body of a young Woman of about 20 Years of Age, which had been thrown into the River, was taken up at the Foot of the Pont Royal; the Legs, Arms, and one Breast were cut off, and the Face miserably mangled.

Dartmouth, May 12. This Day arrived the John and Constant of and for London, with Wine from Oporto.

John Marshall, Maker of Optick Glasses to his Majesty,

At the Archimides in Ludgate-street, Lon- don, having by long Experience observed that abundance of Peoples Sight is spoiled by using false Spectacles sold by Toymen and other ignorant Persons. To prevent which, he doth set the Age on the Frame, for every one to know the Sight they wear; for it often happens, that a Person of 30 takes Spectacles of 60 or 70, to the spoiling of their Sight; whereas if the Age had been known by the Buyer, he would not have used them. By the use of true Spectacles the Sight is much preserved, so that many Persons of 60 or 70 Years of Age, can on occasion read without them. Also Reading-Glasses and Spectacles of Rock Crystal, as well as Glass, Microscopes, Telescopes, and all other Optick Glasses, made to the exactest Perfection by him who is the only Person approved of by the Royal Society for the Art of Glass Grinding.
